The table that I need this on has a unique identifier column. When the table is being populated, I'm using a trigger to insert the id that is in the new row, but then I'm trying to delete all the rows that are less than 5 minutes old on this table. I used to have a trigger in place for an update query, but I needed to add an additional identifier column and it was not supported. I thought about using the AFTER INSERT trigger, but I don't know how to use it for deleting. A: I would use AFTER INSERT trigger, and then update the table with a FOR UPDATE lock, as explained here. CREATE TRIGGER InsertUpdate AFTER INSERT ON MyTable FOR EACH ROW BEGIN UPDATE MyTable SET Timestamp = CURRENT_TIMESTAMP WHERE Timestamp Wednesday, November 18, 2007 The latter is a few days older than the former, but both are beloved by their children and still graced 2d92ce491b
